Closeout is a small software application designed with a single goal in mind: to help you close all opened files, folders, and programs with minimal effort. The utility comes in handy especially when you have many windows opened at the same time and need to kill them on the fly. The advantages of being portable Since this is a portable program, it is important to mention that it doesn't leave any traces in the Windows Registry. You can copy it on any USB flash drive or other devices, and take it with you whenever you need to close all windows using just a few clicks on the breeze, without having to go through installation steps. How it works Closeout doesn't offer support for a graphical user interface in order to help you accomplish the process. You need to manually open the EXE file. As soon as you perform a double-click mouse operation on the program's icon, it automatically closes all opened files, folders, and utilities. Performance There's no support for many configuration settings, so even less experienced users can make the most out of this tool in no time. Tests have shown that Closeout carries out a task quickly and without errors. It leaves a minimal footprint on system resources, so the overall performance of the computer is not affected. Bottom line All things considered, Closeout seems to be the right choice in case you are looking for a simple software application that comes bundled with basic features. However, it would have been useful to see support for a graphical user interface and custom hotkeys.
