A: I'm assuming that you're looking for the 64 bit version of AutoCAD 2011. If so, you need to obtain it from the Autodesk Web site, specifically the Autodesk Download Center. The code you posted requires an Autodesk Developer Account, which you do not have. Additionally, your installation of Xforce 2011 requires a MSDN subscription for Xforce, not an Autodesk Developer Account. The code on the website will not work if you do not have a Developer Account as it uses MSDN to get the Xforce 2011 code. Q: Material design components and querySelectorAll select incorrect element and get wrong value I'm trying to apply a class to the HTML tag after clicking on the button, but the querySelectorAll does not work correctly. I do not know why I can not get the class. Can you help me with that? Thanks in advance. I have set the class on the HTML element with CSS function `addClass(elementId) { console.log("elementId", elementId); var elementClass = document.getElementById("myForm"); console.log("class", elementClass); // Find the class I want to add to the HTML element var classes = elementClass.querySelectorAll(".element_class")[0]; console.log("classes", classes); elementClass.classList.add('className'); } .className { margin: 1em; width: 50px; } .my_class { color: red; font-weight: bold; font-size: 20px; }` Add Class A: Actually, `elementClass.classList.add('className');` (this is missing a space) this will be an `addClass` call. `.className {` (notice the space, this indicates a class selector) this will be an element with the
